

Connect to the Community ...

When you become a member of the Cable Natural History Museum you connect with a community that makes all things possible for us.

As a member, you play a vital role in supporting our exciting exhibits, educational programs, and special events. All of these help us to engage visitors with the natural world, inspiring them toward better environmental stewardship.

As a member, you can drop in anytime to wait out the rain in the Curiosity Center, see that exhibit one more time, marvel at our collections room, and talk to a naturalist about our curious world.

Museum membership means more for your family: more discounts, more access, more natural fun! It also means more support for school programs and other community partnerships.

Join us to help inspire appreciation, knowledge, and understanding of our beautiful Northwoods home!
