

KRISTEN WESTLAKE

Professional Wildlife, Nature and Landscape photographer, Kristen Westlake, is co-founder of COPA (Coalition of Photographic Arts) and a member of NANPA (North American Nature Photographer's Association). Westlake's photography is featured in many publications throughout the United States, including Birder's World, My Midwest Magazine, At the Lake, Lake and Country, and many more. She has been featured on PBS television's "Outdoor Wisconsin" and "Six Degrees". Westlake specializes in Limited Edition fine art canvas prints and open edition fine art luster prints of her work. Kristen's work is for sale in fine art galleries and in her own online nature photography gallery. She travels extensively throughout the United States by car and on foot to become part of the environment that she so richly "captures".

Kristen Westlake grew up in rural Wisconsin. A highly energized youngster, she delighted in adventure, running, roaming, and stopping to watch wild animals for hours. Her childhood passions transcended into her adult life. Combining Kristen the athlete, nature photographer, adventurer, outdoors woman, entrepreneur, and lover of life, she inspires others to live their dreams simply by living her own.
